

Millstein Center at Columbia Law School Appoints Anne Robinson, Vanguard General Counsel, as Advisory Board Member

New York, March 22, 2021 The Ira M. Millstein Center for Global Markets and Corporate Ownership at Columbia Law School announced the appointment of Anne Robinson to its advisory board.

Ms. Robinson joins a group of distinguished board members with leading experience in global financial markets and corporate governance.

Anne E. Robinson

Anne E. Robinson is general counsel of Vanguard, and secretary of the Vanguard funds. She is also managing director of Vanguard’s Office of the General Counsel, which includes their Government Relations, Legal, Compliance, and Investment Stewardship functions. Before joining Vanguard in 2016, Ms. Robinson served as a managing director and general counsel in the Citigroup global legal department. She started her career in private law practice, and went on to serve as counsel with Deloitte Consulting before moving to American Express in 2003. She joined Citigroup in 2014, as managing director and general counsel of global cards and consumer services. Ms. Robinson earned a bachelor's degree in political science from Hampton University and a J.D. from Columbia Law School.

“We are delighted to welcome Anne to our distinguished group of board members and back to her alma mater, Columbia Law School,” said Erica Mitnick Klein, the center’s executive director. “Anne’s perspective as a senior leader of Vanguard, one of the largest investment firms in the world, will elevate our governance research and enrich our engagement activities across the board.”

Ira M. Millstein, founding chair of the Millstein Center and senior partner at Weil, Gotshal & Manges LLP, said “Given her experience in many of our key areas of focus, from investment stewardship to the role of the general counsel, Anne will be a highly valuable advisor to the center.”

###

About the Millstein Center

Building on Columbia Law School’s longstanding strength in corporate and securities law, the Millstein Center operates at the forefront of new thinking about how corporations are governed.

The center engages with business leaders and board directors to create meaningful dialogue about the challenges companies face, and serves as a focal point for the most innovative research into the policy solutions required to tackle those challenges.